PREFACE.

THIS work embodies the results of twenty years' labor, performed under the usual difficulties that are met with in works of this character. The genealogy of but one of the six great families descended from those who settled in this country at a very early day has been completed, and is presented in this volume. The other five are nearing completion, and it is hoped that the issuing of the records of this family will stimulate the members of others to furnish records of later generations of their respective families, in order that the entire work may be completed as soon as possible. Every member or descendant of any Graves family in America who does not find his ancestry in this volume should at once correspond with me, and furnish his own family record and those of his ancestors as far back as he can, which will in most cases enable me to trace his ancestry back to the first settler of his branch in this country, as I have the genealogies of all the American families perfected down to later generations. Any additions or corrections to the records in this or the second volume will appear in an addenda to the third volume. The sketch of the family in England is given to show the antiquity of the family, and its character and standing.

CREST, COAT OF ARMS AND MOTTOES.

THE distinctive arms of the Graves family are "Gu. an eagle displayed or. ducally crowned arg."

The crest — "A demi-eagle displayed and erased or. enfiled round the body and below the wings by a ducal coronet arg."

By the alliance of members of the family with other families, and the marshalling of different arms in the same composition, variations are frequently found; they almost invariably retain, however, as quarterings, the distinctive arms of the family, the eagle displayed or.

Various mottoes have been adopted, some of which have been used by the members of the family exclusively, and others by this and other families.

The following are the mottoes used, as far as can be ascertained, and translations :

MOTTOES.

"AQUILA NON CAPTAT MUSCAS."

"AQUILA NON CAPIT MUSCAS."

"GRAVES DISCE MORES."

The Eagle does not catch flies.

Learn grave manners.

viii CREST, COAT OF ARMS AND MOTTOES.

“GRAVIS DUM SUAVIS.”	Grave while suave.
“SPES MEA IN DEO.”	My hope is in God.
“DUM SPIRO SPERO.”	While I breathe I hope.
“DEO, NON FORTUNA.”	Through God, not by chance.
“ESSE QUAM VIDERI.”	To be rather than to seem.
“HUIC HABEO NON TIBI.”	I hold to this one, not to thee.
“PER SINUM CODANUM.”	Through the Gulf of Codanus.
“SPERO INFESTIS METUO SECUNDIS.”	I hope in adversity, and fear in prosperity.
“SUPERNA QUÆRITE.”	Seek things above.
“SUPERNA QUÆRO.”	I seek heavenly things.
“SUPREMA QUÆRO.”	I see the highest.

SKETCH OF THE GRAVES FAMILY IN ENGLAND.

THE family of Graves is one of the most ancient in England. It went in with the Norman army, and its members have been De Grevis, De Greves, Greve, Grave, Greaves, Greeves, and Graves. In the portion of Domesday-Book for Lincolnshire it is recorded:

The family lived in early days in that part of England now known as counties Lincoln, Nottingham, Derby and York, occupying the northern part of the three first named and the southern part of York. The first recorded family seat was known as Greves or Greaves, in the parish of Beeley, near Chatsworth, in the northern part of Derbyshire, and a few miles from the southerly boundary of York, where the family resided as early as the reign of Henry III (1216-1272). John Greaves a descendant, in the reign of Elizabeth (1558-1602), became a purchaser of "Beeley," a quaint old house with an enclosed court, on the hill above Beeley, and now known as "Hilltop," and it was occupied as a family seat until about 1664, when it was sold to John, Earl of Rutland.

In the little church at Beeley, within the altar rails, is a fine flat stone on which are cut the coat of arms of the family, the motto "Superna Quaero," and the following inscription :

"This marble stone doth presse but not oppresse the body of John Greaves of Greaves, Esq., who always was a true son of the Church of England, merciful and charitable to the poor, patient and courageous in a tedious sickness, and at length, being full of faith and hope, did exchange this troublesome world for a better, upon the 13th day of October, in the year of our Lord

From the visitations of Derbyshire, in the College of Arms, and from MSS. in the British Museum, the following descent of the early founders of the family is extracted :

- I. John de la Greves.
- II. Hugo de la Grevis, vixit temp. Henry III (1216-1272).
- III. William de la Grevis, filius Hugonis, temp. Edward I (1272-1307).
- IV. Egidrus de la Greves, Letitia uxor ejus. 1316.
- V. Thomas de la Greves, filius Egidri, temp. Edward III (1327-1377).
- VI. Johannes de la Grevis, fil. Thomas, fil. Egidri, temp. Edward III.
- VII. John.
- VIII. William and wife Agnes.
- IX. John, 1497; buried Dec. 30, 1546.
- X. John of Greaves; buried Dec. 30, 1595.

- XIII. John of Beeley; buried Feb. 6, 1673-4.
- XIV. John of Stanton Hall and Biggin; born in 1644; died without issue, Oct. 13, 1694.

The family had early scattered over the surrounding country. As early as 1574 members of it are mentioned as at Kings Norton in Worcester County, where in the Chapel is found a large monument to Sir Richard Greves, Kt., with crest ; he died in 1631. In the rolls of the Exchequer Lay Subsidies for Buckingham and Northampton Counties, there are found taxes laid against different members of the family as early as 1522, and from that time forward. John Grave was a resident of Cleckheaton, in the Parish of Birstall, and Wapentake of Morley, in the West Riding of Yorkshire, as early as the time of Edward IV (1461-1483), and from him descend several of the most prominent families in Great Britain.

The following is the lineage of the family of Graves of Mickleton Manor :

13. Sidney Graves Hamilton, of Mickleton, and now of Kiftsgate Court, Esq., born June 13, 1855.

The Graves family in Ireland was founded by Colonel William Graves, son of Richard Graves, 4, in Mickleton family pedigree. He was sent to Ireland as Colonel commanding a Regt. of horse in the Parliamentary Army in 1649 or 50. He was granted lands of Ballymack and Burnchurch, Co. Kilkenny, and previous to the restoration he disposed of his lands in Ireland and returned to England, leaving two of his sons in Ireland. One settled in the north, and from him the family of Lord Graves is said to have descended; the other settled near Limerick, in the south, and his family is given below.

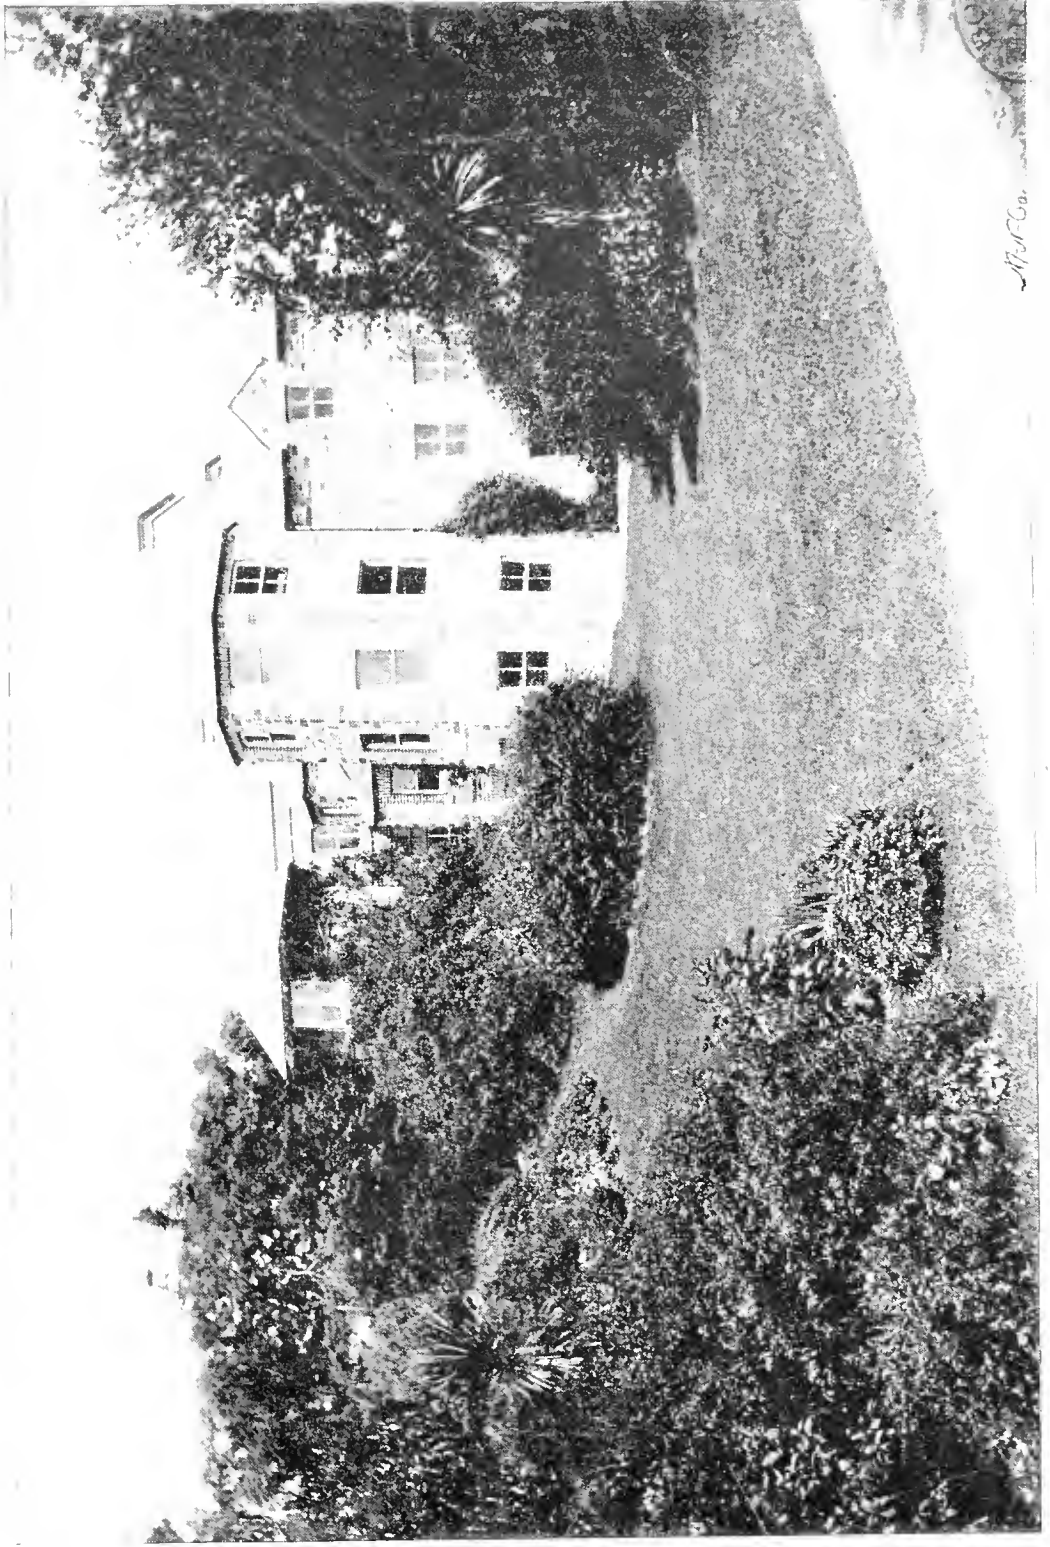

1. Col. William Graves, son of Richard Graves, of London, 4th in Mickleton family.
2. Henry, born in Nov., 1652. He was given the name "Claymore," or "Harry of the Long Sword," as he never went abroad without his formidable blade, not even when going to church at Croom, where he attended, "for fear of the hostility of the Irish Papists," as he said. He held at Greybridge.

4. Rev. James, son of John, born Nov. 18, 1713; vicar of Kilfinnan, Co. Limerick. He died Nov. 21, 1783, in the parish he served for 38 years. His tombstone bears the inscription: "Let the voices of his friends and his flock speak his character." He had a brother Henry, who was father of Rev. Henry Meggs Graves, and grandfather of General Graves, of Ireland. Another brother was Richard Graves, High Sheriff of Limerick and Waterford, who died in 1815.
5. Thomas, son of Rev. James, Very Rev. Dean of Ardfert, and then of Connor, born Mch. 3, 1745; md. Mch. 8, 1771, Anne Dunlevie. He died Sept. 30, 1828. Richard Graves, born Oct. 1, 1763, fellow of Trinity College, Dublin, in 1786, who, in 1807, published his important work on "The Pentateuch," and in 1813 was made Professor of Divinity in the Dublin University, and Dean of Ardagh. He married, Aug. 1, 1787, Eliza Mary Drought, dau. of Rev. James Drought, F. T. C. D., and Prof. of Divinity, and had sons Rev. Richard Hastings Graves and Robert James Graves, the famous Dublin physician, whose reputation has become world-wide, and whose writings have been translated into many languages. He revolutionized the old system of bleeding and starving fevers, and said that his epitaph should be: "He fed fevers." Dr. Graves was the father of: 1, Rev. Richard Drought Graves, born 1832, died Jan'y 5, 1871; 2, Colonel William Grogan Graves, of Cloghan Castle, Kings Co., J. P., born Feb. 14, 1836; md. in 1877. The important families of Greaves, of Mayfield Hall, Co. Stafford, Greaves of Page Hall and Elmsall Lodge, Co. Bucks, and others, trace their descent from the ancient Derbyshire family. A branch of the family settled in York at a very early day. Hugh, bro. of John, of Beamsley, 3rd in the Mickleton family, was M. P. for York in several Parliaments, Sheriff of York in 1559; M. P. of same 1570-71, and Lord Mayor of York in 1578. John was Lord Mayor of York in 1570, md. daughter of Gervase Greenhurst, of Greenhurst, Co. Lancashire, and had sons: John Jr., Hugh, William, Thomas and Anthony. John, Jr., became Mayor of Hull in 1598, and was the father of sons: 1, Hugh; 2, Thomas, who had sons John and Thomas; 3, Benjamin; 4, John.

Anthony, son of John, Mayor of York, was sword bearer of York. He had son Thomas.

Many of the descendants of the different branches of the family went, from time to time, to London and other cities in Great Britain, and to the Colonies, and notably to the American Colonies, in the score of years from 1629 to 1649. The work of preparing a general genealogy of the Graves family in England has never been undertaken, but when it shall be, the results will be as gratifying to those of the English family as they will be to the descendants in this country. The family in Great Britain has produced men distinguished as Scholars, Divines, Military and Naval Commanders, Barristers and Business men, a vigorous and loyal race, but not a self-seeking one, and the same can be said of the American branches.

FACSIMILE OF DEED OF LAND IN WETHERSFIELD, CONN., TO JOHN GRAVES OF SAME PLACE - 1653.

GENEALOGY OF THE FAMILY OF
THOMAS GRAVES
OF HARTFORD, CONN., and HATFIELD, MASS.

---

THOMAS GRAVES (1), was born in England before 1585, and came to New England with his wife Sarah and five children before 1645. His children were all born in England, and were all of mature age when they came to this country, the youngest of his sons being about 16 years old.

The names of the children were Isaac, John, Samuel, Nathaniel and Elizabeth.

The first official record found of the family in this country was at Hartford, Conn., in 1645, when the family was located there, Thomas, the father, having three separate pieces of real estate, one described as being the one "whereon his house standeth." Isaac also took up his residence in Hartford and had land there. John took up his residence in Wethersfield, the adjoining town, and it is probable that the three homes were not far apart.

The lands granted to John in 1652 were described as those "whereon his house standeth."

Nathaniel also settled in Wethersfield, where he married in 1655.

The family remained together as far as it is known until the removal to Hatfield, Mass. The son Samuel never married, and probably did not live to accompany the rest at the time of removal. The family to which Nathaniel's wife belonged resided near him and were largely interested in lands there, and for the sake of remaining near his wife's relations, Nathaniel did not remove with the rest of the family to Hatfield. The family at Hartford and Wethersfield occupied a prominent position and took active part in political and religious matters—serving on juries, acting as surveyors and fence viewers, running boundary lines between towns and generally filling those places that stalwart, intelligent and respected citizens usually are called upon to fill, the exception being that Thomas was exempted from "training, watching, and warding" on account of his being over the age of sixty, which was the limit of age for that kind of service.

From all that can be learned the family was prospering at Hartford as well as any family could in a new country, and there must have been some strong reason that would induce them to give up their lands and houses and enter upon a new life in an undeveloped country and suffer the hardships incident to the undertaking, and we find it in the strong religious convictions that impelled the early settlers in this country.

A schism had arisen in the church at Hartford and Wethersfield, and the dissenters from the views entertained by the majority concluded to break away from their homes and found a settlement where their views should prevail.

We find it extremely difficult to express our appreciation of the characteristics of the noble old head of this family, Thomas Graves. His modesty, together with the lapse of time, over 230 years, prevents us from mentioning many things about his daily life that make biography so entertaining. We are therefore compelled to speak of and delineate those qualities of heart and mind that become apparent to us from the standpoint of his well-known ideas upon religious matters, in fact his close adhesion to what we now too often stigmatize as puritanism. It, however, hardly becomes us of the present to criticize too closely the views entertained by that noble band of men who held so lovingly to their theories that no conditions or inducements would make them swerve from their conscientious views of the requirements of duty. It was really tantamount to an express "thus saith the Lord" to them, for this was in many instances the cause of their leaving their homes and personal friends in England, and come to our land that they might enjoy that freedom to worship God in what they deemed the only true way. And so when we find schismatic views of church polity were being advocated, that they deemed destructive to the church of God, we find them again ready to leave their pleasant surroundings at Hartford and seek new homes away on the frontier of civilized life. Perhaps we shall be excused if we here state briefly the cause of the removal to Hatfield, Mass. A practice had grown up in the churches of allowing persons who had been baptized, if not of a "scandalous character," to consent to the covenant, and this permitted them to have the sacrament of baptism administered to their infant children. On this question hot discussions were held, as well as on some others of minor importance. It was upon this division of sentiment that our ancestors determined to remove to Hatfield, animated by what they supposed was their bounden duty. Yet we cannot but be satisfied that these pioneers knew that in their new undertaking they were to enter upon pleasant places. They selected the beautiful and fertile lands of the valley of the Connecticut for their new home, which have more than fulfilled the most ardent expectations of the settlers.

But notwithstanding the great age of Thomas Graves, we find him a promoter and organizer in this new country. They left their houses and lands in Hartford and Wethersfield unsold, and uniting themselves in a band of daring emigrants, started for their new home with wives and children. Their household effects were loaded on carts drawn by oxen, and they took with them their domestic animals. The determined cavalcade started out for their new homes. It was not far from the middle of September, 1661. The journey, of not over fifty miles, occupied nearly or quite ten days. Creeks and brooks had to be crossed, swamps and morasses had to be avoided or crossed as best they could be. They reached their destination about the first of October, 1661.

Exposed to all the dangers incident to a frontier settlement, amid the habitations of wild beasts and wilder men, the Indians, who resided in their immediate vicinity, and had a fort and village only about two miles from where the settlement was made. Foremost among these hardy emigrants were Thomas Graves, with his aged wife, and his two stalwart sons, Isaac and John, with their wives and families of five children each. And now we find them without a house or where to lay their heads and winter approaching rapidly. They at once set to work to provide homes for their families and barns for their animals. There were no saw mills to manufacture the lumber, and the only method of sawing planks or boards was by making a pit, and by using the cross-cut saw, with one man on the top of the log, and one man in the pit. In this way a few boards were made that would serve for tables and doors. The logs were speedily shaped into convenient homes for the accommodation of these brave people.

Thomas Graves was now an aged yet honored member of this community, and from this time forward was an inmate of the family of Isaac. He was then past his 76th birthday. He remained, with his wife, in Isaac's family until his death in November, 1662, a little more than a year from the time of their removal to their new home.

It is very probable that a few of these settlers at Hatfield had located there, previous to the general removal. A committee had been appointed January 1st, 1661, to lay out house-lots in Hatfield, and it appears that Richard Fellows was here early in 1661. It is quite probable that each engager knew the number of his house-lot. Thomas Graves was not assigned any lands, but was counted in with Isaac, his oldest son, whose estate was thus increased to 150 pounds, while his brother John's was voted at 100 pounds. This did not affect the size or location of their respective house-lots, as they were contiguous, but did in the division of common lands. After the death of Thomas Graves, his son Isaac administered upon his estate in Massachusetts, while his son Nathaniel performed the same service on his estate in Connecticut. His wife, Sarah Graves, survived him some four years, and Isaac administered upon her estate. A very curious inventory of her effects is spread upon the probate records at Northampton. Views of the lots on which Thomas and his son Isaac located their house in Hatfield and the lot on which John placed his new home there, together with general views of the beautiful village of Hatfield, which the settlers had shown so much wisdom in selecting, appear as illustrations with this family history.

CHILDREN OF THOMAS (I) AND SARAH GRAVES.

2. ISAAC, born in England.
3. JOHN, born in England.
4. SAMUEL, born in England.
5. NATHANIEL, born in England abt. 1629.
6. ELIZABETH, born in England.

ISAAC GRAVES (2), son of Thomas,<sup>1</sup> born in England, probably as early as 1620, came to New England with his father, settled in Hartford, Conn., before 1645, married Mary, daughter of Richard and Anna Church, who came from England in 1637; he was made freeman at General Court, Boston, Mass., May 16, 1669, was Sergeant in the Colonial Militia, and Clerk of the Writs for Hatfield, to which he had removed in 1661. He was a prominent man in his time; was one of the representatives of that portion of Hadley—that afterwards became Hatfield—who appeared before the General Court, at Boston, in favor of separate church and town rights for Hatfield. He was killed in the Indian attack on the Hatfield settlement, Sept. 19, 1677; widow died June 9, 1695.

During the continuance of what is usually termed "King Phillip's War," the inhabitants of these isolated frontier towns were naturally filled with forebodings of danger to their homes and families. For their own protection and safety, the inhabitants of Northampton, Hadley and Hatfield practically united for mutual defense and assistance. These three towns were occupied by troops from the eastern portion of the Colony of Massachusetts Bay. At Northampton 26 soldiers were located, at Hadley 30, and at Hatfield 36. This was the most exposed, as it was the frontier town. Then they had a committee, called a council of war, chosen from the several towns. Among them was Sergeant Isaac Graves. The object of this council of war was to render better security to the inhabitants of the several towns. They counselled with the commander, Major Appleton, relative to the ways and means best to be used for the protection of life and property.

August 25, 1675, a scouting party of ten was sent out and fell into an ambuscade, and nine were killed. Then on the 17th of September we find that Captain Lathrop and his company and several teamsters from Deerfield were attacked and massacred. Only a few escaped; sixty-four were buried in one grave as the result of the "Bloody Brook" fight. Seventeen of the sixty-four were Deerfield men. In consequence of the numerous attacks by the Indians, the people, with the view of better protection, built a stockade, probably in the autumn of the year 1675, composed of posts of timber set in the ground, and about ten feet high. This stockade was built on both sides of Main street, some twelve or fifteen rods from the east and west lines of the street, extending north from the Northampton road, not far from 100 rods. This stockade enclosed the bulk of the village. The houses of Isaac and John Graves were within the stockade. Unfortunately for them, on the 19th of September, 1677, they were both employed in building a house for John Graves, Jr., about a half a mile above the northerly end of the stockade, on a lot adjoining that of Sergeant Benjamin Waite. Without any warning or thought of danger they were attacked by the Indians, and Isaac and John shot down while engaged, as one tradition has it, "in laying shingles on the roof the house," and with them were likewise two other men who were working with them, John Atchinson and John Cooper. Eight others were killed, and we presume scalped, as the account speaks of them as being disfigured, and seventeen were made prisoners. All but one, Obadiah Dickinson, were women and children. We give a view of the beautiful location where these stalwart and honored citizens were killed, feeling that as all of the Thomas Graves descendants trace back to one or the other of these brothers, every one of the great family must take an interest in learning these incidents and viewing the picture we here present.

NOTE.—For the purpose of identification and description, an arbitrary number is given to each member of the family in the order of descent from the founder of the family in this country. Since the numbers (3823) were assigned, 112 duplicates have been added for other descendants discovered, making the descendants of Thomas Graves, of Hatfield, as far as now known, 3925. Unquestionably others will be added.

TO FIND ANCESTORS, TRACE A NUMBER BACKWARD
TOWARDS THE FOUNDER, AND TO FIND DESCENDANTS, TRACE IT FORWARD.
